Dear hiring team,

I have been Taylor Brooks's manager at Brightwater Labs for the past five years, and I recommend Taylor without reservation for a senior product design role.

Taylor designed our bill-forecast feature, which 120,000 renters now use every month, and redesigned autopay setup, which doubled enrollment in a quarter. Last year Taylor led the design of our AI bill explainer: Taylor wrote the evaluation set of 200 real customer questions with our engineers, so we shipped only when the answers were right, and support tickets fell 23%. Taylor also designed our property-manager dashboard, led our first accessibility audit (140 issues fixed across iOS and Android) and mentors two junior designers.

Engineers seek Taylor out before they start building, because Taylor's specifications answer their questions before they ask them. Taylor is calm in reviews, precise with data, and generous with credit.

Please contact me with any questions.
